

MICCAI MEDIA Best Paper Award

Definition and Guidelines; Last Updated: January 4, 2019

Purpose of the Award

The MICCAI MEDIA Best Paper Award recognizes the highest quality paper in the Special Issue on the main MICCAI conference published in the Medical Image Analysis (MEDIA) journal. Typically one award is issued each year, but the journal may decide to split the award between two winners. The monetary value of the award is $1,000 USD

Award Eligibility

All papers accepted into the MEDIA Special Issue on MICCAI are eligible.

Award Coordinator

The MICCAI Society Awards Coordinator provides overall overseeing of the schedule and process administration, but has no input to the adjudication process.

Adjudication

The award is decided by the MICCAI conference program chairs and the journal editors. The program chairs consider all papers comprising the special issue and recommend the top three or four papers to the journal editors. The journal editors review the short-listed papers and select a winner and a runner-up. The journal editors may decide to split the award between two winners. Reasonable effort is made to award papers that did not receive any other MICCAI award.

Integrity of the Process

The conference chairs and journal editors adhere to impartiality; any person in conflict of interest with a candidate paper is removed from the adjudication process.

Announcement

The awarded paper and a runner-up should be announced during an award ceremony at the following MICCAI conference and on the MICCAI website.

Financing

The MEDIA journal provides $1,000 USD for the award annually.

Payment Method

The award is typically issued by a check from the journal, unless otherwise arranged.
